Box III TEXT OF THE ABSTRACT (Continuation of item 5 of the first sheet)

A passive needle guard (110) includes a body (120) having proximal and distal ends (122,124) and a cavity (126) therein for receiving a medicine cartridge, and a shield (160) slidable on the body between retracted and extended positions for exposing and covering, respectively, a needle (95) extending from the body, the shield (160) being biased towards the extended position. Deflectable latch members (174) extend from the shield (160) that include catches (176) for engaging catches (148) on the body (120) for holding the shield (160) in the retracted position. A syringe (90) is inserted into the needle guard (110), and a needle of the syringe inserted into a patient. A plunger (98) of the syringe (90) is depressed to inject medication and to deflect the latch members (174) to disengage the catches (148) and release the shield (160), whereupon the shield automatically advances to the extended position. In the extended position, cooperating detents (171) on the shield (160) and body (120) engage one another, thereby preventing subsequent retraction of the shield (160).
